Banned/Restricted Card Addition Notice

In the ONE PIECE CARD GAME, you may include up to 4 copies of the same card number in a deck. However, for official and sanctioned tournaments, some cards used in the game are designated as Banned Cards, Banned Pairs, or Restricted Cards.

Please be aware that cards on this list may be removed in future revisions depending on the state of the game environment at the time of list updates.

Regarding the Policy of Banned/Restricted Card Revision

We, the Development Team of ONE PIECE CARD GAME, consider as the main policy for game designing that the players and fans the game environment to ensure strategic diversity is maintained, always considering whether revisions to the Banned/Restricted Card List are necessary.

When determining whether to add cards to the Banned/Restricted List, we evaluate multiple aspects of a deck—such as its win rate, results from major tournaments, usage rate, its projected influence on the future game environment, and whether it restricts the viability of other Leaders.

For that reason, we also consider removing certain cards from the Banned/Restricted List when the game environment changes, and when we believe players and fans will once again be able to fully enjoy the game without those restrictions.

Typically, we announce revisions to the list once after the conclusion of Championship Season 1 in Japan, and once after the World Championship.

However, if we determine that a particular card is preventing us from providing an enjoyable environment, we may add it to the
